May 2016

Expanding private disability insurance coverage to reduce the burden on the SSDI program

_CRA consultants author book chapter_

_David Babbel_ and _Mark Meyer_, consultants in CRA’s Insurance Economics Practice, have contributed a chapter to the McCrery-Pomeroy SSDI Solutions Initiative book, _SSDI Solutions: Ideas to Strengthen the Social Security Disability Insurance Program_. Their chapter, entitled “Expanding Disability Insurance Coverage to Help the SSDI Program,” discusses extending private group disability income insurance protection to a greater proportion of working Americans by encouraging employers to adopt automatic enrollment or “opt-out” arrangements under employer-sponsored group disability plans.

Drs. Babbel and Meyer show that private disability insurance currently saves the federal government around $2 billion per year in SSDI, Medicaid, Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), and Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) expenditures. Increasing the number of employees with group disability coverage means more workers affected by a disability will benefit from the income protection and return-to-work features of group disability coverage, thereby reducing their need to enroll in SSDI. Expanding private disability coverage to an additional 10% of employees could save the SSDI program an additional $300 million per year. The benefits of expanded group disability coverage can reduce the burden on the SSDI program at no cost to the federal budget.

The _McCrery-Pomeroy SSDI Solutions Initiative_ is a project of the _Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget_. The Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget is a bipartisan, non-profit organization committed to educating the public about issues that have significant fiscal policy impact. The Committee is made up of some of the nation’s leading budget experts including many past chairs and directors of the Budget Committees, the Congressional Budget Office, the Office of Management and Budget, the Government Accountability Office, and the Federal Reserve Board. The _SSDI Solutions_ book is a collection of solutions, recommendations, and contextual chapters that illustrate the problems ailing the Social Security Disability Insurance program.

To read the chapter, click here.

For more information about the book, click here.
Contacts

David Babbel
Senior Advisor
New York
+1-610-527-1839
Babbel@Wharton.UPenn.edu

Mark Meyer
Vice President, Practice Co-Leader of Insurance Economics
New York
+1-212-520-7226
mmeyer@crai.com

The foregoing has been prepared for the general information of clients and friends of the firm. It is not meant to provide any advice, including consulting, financial, or legal with respect to any specific matter and should not be acted upon without professional advice. If you have questions or require further information regarding these or related matters, please contact your regular Charles River Associates contact. This material may be considered advertising. Detailed information about Charles River Associates, a registered trade name of CRA International, Inc., is available at www.crai.com.

If you do not wish to receive future updates, e-mail alerts, or invitations to seminars, click here to unsubscribe.

Copyright 2016 Charles River Associates